DOTSO

Dotso is a new logic strategy game from Soleau Software. The game plays like Connect the Dots, yet it features new twists to this old classic game. You play against the computer in your quest to capture as many squares as possible by drawing lines to create four sides of a box. Each time you play, a new and different game board is created, so no two games are ever the same! Dotso has multiple difficulty levels, so the whole family can enjoy this classic strategy game. Can you beat the Dotso Computer Champion?

PLIX

Plix is an addicting puzzle game in which you try to slide different patterned tiles onto their respective negative image at the bottom of the game board. It sounds easy, yet the tiles slide in the direction you push them until they either hit another tile or the side of the game board. Each of the 25 mind-bending puzzles has at least one solution. You acquire points for each tile properly placed. There are separate score cards for multiple players to keep track of their high scores. Solutions for the first few puzzles are provided.

RAKU MASTER I

Raku Master is a pure logic game that will put all serious puzzle lovers to the test. The object of the game is to flip all the red tiles back to gray in as few moves as possible. You can flip either diagonally, up or down starting at any tile. The Raku Master tells you the exact number of moves in which he can solve the puzzle. If you don't believe it can be done, let Raku Master show you the solutions for the first 10 of 50 puzzles. There is no luck involved in Raku Master. It is a challenging test of your problem solving abilities.
